Credit Card On Account

Your credit card is securely tokenized and stored online. No employee of our store has any access to your card information and it is not stored on any of our computer systems.

Option 1: Any authorized employees of your company may make purchases, charged at the time of purchase to your credit card without the card being present. This allows you to authorize employees to charge, monitoring the charges as they are made, without issuing them a "company" credit card.

Option 2: Your charges will accumulate throughout a calendar month and a single charge for the preceding month's invoices will be billed to your credit card on the tenth of the following month.
